- the technical scores awarded to the technical offers by 0.50.
- the scores awarded to the interview by 0.50.

12. Confidentiality

The quality of each technical offer will be evaluated in accordance with the selection criteria and the weighting detailed in the Selection Criteria matrix in Annex 3 of this Call for Proposals. The selection criteria will be examined in accordance with the requirements indicated in the Terms of Reference.

To assist in the examination, evaluation, and comparison of the Proposals, the evaluation committee may, at its discretion, ask any Candidate for a clarification of its Proposal, given a reasonable time for a response.

Only Proposals that achieve 70/100 overall and score at least half of the available points in each of Sections A–C (qualifications and experience) as defined in Annex 3 Selection Criteria, are declared “technically compliant”. Any Proposal falling to reach the above thresholds is automatically rejected.

Out of the Proposals reaching the 70-score threshold, the best technical Proposal is awarded 100 points. The others receive points calculated using the following formula:

Technical score = (final score of the technical Proposal in question/final score of the best technical Proposal) x 100.

- the technical scores awarded to the technical offers by 0.50.
- the scores awarded to the interview by 0.50.

Senior Forestry Expert

The selection committee will assess every Proposal against the technical-quality grid below, worth 100 points in total. The grid mirrors the key requirements set out in the Terms of Reference (TOR) for the Senior Forestry Expert, formal qualifications, breadth and depth of professional experience, language abilities, and the clarity of your Motivation Letter commitment.

Scoring and thresholds

- Points are awarded only for evidence that can be verified in your CV, cover letter, references, certificates, or online publications.
- You must reach at least 70/100 overall and score at least half of the available points in each of Sections A–C (qualifications and experience) to be deemed technically compliant.
- Where a range is indicated (“up to ... points”), evaluators will award points proportionally to the relevance, scale, and concreteness of the evidence you provide.

Tips for a strong submission

- Structure your CV and cover letter around the matrix headings. Spell out years, countries, institutional partners, International-financial-institution (IFI) / multilateral-development-bank (MDB) roles, and specific deliverables.
- Attach copies of diplomas/certificates (e.g. MSc, PhD, GIS training) and provide hyperlinks or annexes to selected technical reports, publications that demonstrate your forestry and IFI/MDB work.
- Keep the Motivation Letter concise, ideally between 1,500 and 2,500 words (about three to five pages) and use it to highlight the achievements that map directly to the matrix.
- Applications that clear the technical threshold will proceed to any subsequent steps set out in the procurement notice (e.g. interviews). The matrix that follows makes the point allocation fully transparent, so you can tailor your submission accordingly.
